LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney for Marine First Lt. Louis Ronald Ambort, 23, of Little Rock, who has been charged with violating a general order, dereliction of duty and making a false official statement concerning the alleged murder of 16 South Vietnamese civilians, is asking for character references on behalf of his client.

Capt. Frank J. Roux, the attorney, said in a letter to the Arkansas Gazette, "because Lt. Ambort has lived in Little Rock for many years and because he and his family have established so many close relationships with citizens of our fine city, it will be impossible for me to contact each and every of them personally."

Roux said Ambort's case would come up soon at Da Nang, South Vietnam. Five enlisted men under Ambort's command have been charged with the murder of 16 South Vietnamese women and children.

Freezing in Some Parts of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing temperatures were recorded in the northwest section of the state early today. The cool weather today was caused by a high pressure ridge of Canadian air which extended from southern Canada through eastern Nebraska and into Texas, the Weather Bureau said.

The bureau said that a strong low pressure system which was centered over Utah this morning was expected to move eastward causing skies to become increasingly cloudy in Arkansas by tonight.

A possibility of showers was expected for Wednesday, the bureau said.

Highs Monday ranged from 59 at Harrison to 78 at Pine Bluff.

Overnight lows included 30 at Fayetteville, 38 at Harrison, 41 at Jonesboro, El Dorado and Little Rock, 46 at Pine Bluff, Memphis and Texarkana and 36 at Fort Smith. No precipitation was reported in the 24-hour period which ended at 7 a.m. today.

Agnew Would Ban Students Not Qualified

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says it is a serious educational mistake to let unqualified students attend the nation's universities in order to meet social goals.

Condemning both the open admission and quota systems, Agnew asserted Monday night: "For each youth unprepared for a college curriculum who is brought in under a quota system, some better prepared student is denied entrance."

Agnew, here to address some 3,000 Republicans at a $50-a-plate dinner, said, "I do not accept the proposition that every American boy and girl should go to a four-year college."

The vice president said there should be "expanded education opportunities for deprived, but able young people" but declared he favored "better preparing them—with additional government assistance—in some form of prep school rather than tossing them into a four-year college or university curriculum where they are not prepared to handle."

He added, however: "Any attempt to subordinate the great universities of this country to social goals for which they are ill-designed and ill-equipped can only result in tragic losses to both these institutions and the nation."

He likened the possible result to a situation he said exists in Italy. He said employers there try to recruit only those college men who graduated before 1967, the year an open admissions policy was adopted by Italian universities.

JOHN RAWSON

John Rawson, merchandise manager for Sears Roebuck, Kansas City, was speaker at Monday's Lions Club luncheon at Twon & Country.

He gave a history of Sears Roebuck's growth from its start in 1886 by Richard Sears who sold watches by mail order until the present. Sears' first general catalogue was published in 1896 in Chicago. Sears began retail stores in 1925 and now their 11 mail order control stores do 20 per cent of the business while the retail stores to the other 80 per cent.

There are now over 300 stores selling in excess of $8 billion worth of merchandise annually. Mr. Rawson is the son of Lion Treasurer Paul Rawson. Mrs. John Rawson and Mrs. Paul Rawson were guests of Paul Rawson. Lowell Harris, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Nominees for next fiscal year, July 1970 through June 1971 were presented by the nominating committee chairman, Ferrell Williams. Elections will be held next week, April 20. The Lion of the Year will also be selected at that time.

Blind Man Is Robbed by Thugs

NEW YORK (AP) — The man came up as Steven Tripp stood waiting on Lexington Avenue for the 40th Street crosswalk bus. They knocked him to the ground, emptied his pockets—and fled with his guide dog.

No one helped, Tripp told police. Two women came up and told him there were two men who robbed him and took his dog, he said. Then they walked away. Tripp, who made his way home with an injured leg, later gave police the only other information he had. He described his dog, Bruno, a 4-year-old German shepherd. Police put out an alarm for the dog.

The 47-year-old blind man told police that he had been visiting friends and was turning home when he was attacked shortly after midnight.

In addition to the dog, he told police, his assailants took $36 from his vest pocket and his wristwatch and ring.

The enemy's spring offensive in South Vietnam ended its second week with other action reported along the Cambodian border north of Saigon, in the central highlands and just south of the demilitarized zone, as well as 45 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today.

The allied commands said casualties included nine Americans, three South Vietnamese and 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, and 72 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese wounded.

Four American helicopters were lost Monday, the U.S. Command said. One was a big Army Chinook hit by a North Vietnamese mortar shell as it was landing at an American artillery base three miles south of the DMZ. The helicopter crashed, killing one of the Americans aboard and wounding eight others.

New Head of Chiefs of Staff Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, will become the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Pentagon sources said today.

At the same time, it was reported that Vice Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, commander of naval forces in Vietnam, will be elevated to chief of naval operations.

Moorer will replace Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler who is due to retire in early July after a record six years as head of the panel of military chiefs which advise the President and the secretary of defense on strategy and policy.

Selection of an admiral for the top U.S. military post breaks a string of three joint chairmanships held by Army generals. Preceding Wheeler were Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, both now retired.

The last naval officer to hold the JCS chairmanship was Adm. Arthur W. Radford during the Eisenhower administration. His term ended in 1957.

Integration in Fla. Gets Green Light

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — With Gov. Claude Kirk on the sidelines, public school integration got the green light today in Manatee County.

Yellow buses were ordered to trundle 2,600 of the county's 17,000 pupils to new schools to provide an 80-20 balance of Caucasians and Negroes. The court-ordered desegregation plan also moved 107 teachers.

Kirk, who abandoned control of the county's schools in the face of a threatened fine of $10,000 a day for contempt of court, turned from defiance of a U.S. District Court judge to pleading with a Court of Appeals.

"We didn't throw in the towel," Kirk said in New Orleans Monday as he filed two briefs with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. "We are in court. We are working within the system."

Newspapers and 10 unions representing newspaper workers continued after the New York Newspaper Guild agreed to postpone indefinitely a strike it set for today at the New York Post.

Newspaper employees remained on strike at the Boston Record American, New England's largest circulation newspaper. They were asking wage parity with other Boston newspaper workers.

In Madison, Wis., state Atty. Gen. Robert Warren drew up court papers today in an effort to head off a threatened strike by several thousand workers at 24 state mental institutions.

Hammerschmidt also said the Water Pollution Control Administration has approved a $16,170 grant increase to Prairie Grove for a sewage treatment plan and interceptor sewers.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Picking the hits and misses among the new television shows next season can be a risky business.

But Herb Jacobs, who claims a 95 per cent record over the past five years, has stuck out his neck again with a forecast of next season. Jacobs is chairman of Telcom Associates, Inc., a research company.

As he sees it, Andy Griffith will be the biggest hit of the new shows.

"He's a known quantity," said Jacobs. "His fans missed him and will flock over to him."

Other hits will be Flip Wilson and Don Knotts with their own variety shows and Danny Thomas back with a situation comedy called "Make Room for Granddaddy."

Jacobs looks for Mary Tyler Moore to be an early casualty. She is up against tough competition in "Mod Squad" and Knotts. Another factor, he said, is that an audience survey people associated her as Dick Van Dyke's co-star.

Tim Conway's new variety show is given little chance. "Tim Conway is a good second banana but he has had too many bombs on his own," Jacobs said.

"Don Knotts on the other hand scored heavily in the box-office with his own movies. And Flip Wilson is big with teens and young people and doesn't need big guest stars to pull in the audience."

He looks for "Dial Hot Line," Vince Edwards' first series since "Ben Casey," to ring up a wrong number. "The competition is tough and the story's too heavy," he said. "It dispenses nickel and dime psychology to a lot of people with serious hang-ups."

Scheduling against strong opposition is likely to be the death of some shows.

"I liked the Partridge Family," Jacobs said. "Shirley Jones and the kids are great. But a new show is established by rubbernecking, and since it's up against Andy Griffith there won't be many people around to sample it."

"The Young Lawyers" is up against "Gunsmoke" and Red Skelton on Monday nights. It isn't given as much chance to make it as "Storefront Lawyers" on Wednesday night, which has lesser competition. And, Jacobs said, he found "The Young Lawyers" to be a better show.

"The Interns" goes after young adults on Friday nights, but Jacobs thinks it won't find many home that night.

"Arnie" is a comedy on Saturday nights which he expects to succeed because it's good and because of weak competition.

"The Odd Couple," "Barefoot in the Park" and "Nancy" are expected to catch on. "Silence Force" will sink without a trace, he predicts, and ABC's Monday night pro football is going to have some tough competition — from the wives.

Visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rawson and other relatives are Mr. and Mrs. John Rawson, Meg and Mark, Independence, Mo.

Farrell Faubus Confused as Everyone Is

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — "I'm about as confused as everybody else," Farrell Faubus said about reports that each of his parents might run for governor this year.

"It's not a comfortable feeling," he added.

His father, former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, has acknowledged giving thought to urging of friends for him to run again.

Alta Faubus, ex-wife of the former governor, has said that she, too, may run.

Farrell, 31, said in an interview that he talked with each parent "enough to know that both are seriously considering getting into the race."

A lawyer, Farrell has been practicing law only occasionally in recent months. He has been teaching Arkansas history at Huntsville Junior High School.

The prospect of having both parents seeking the same political office has created some nervous tension in his own life, Farrell said.

"It may be that neither one will run, or maybe only one will, or maybe both will," he said. "I'm just going to sit on the sidelines and wait and see."

"My wife and I talked it over to see how we would vote if both got in there, but we couldn't decide anything," Farrell said. "We may just have to vote for each of them — my wife for one, and me for the other. Believe me, it's a little confusing."

Farrell acted as attorney for his mother when the Faubus marriage was breaking up.

"Actually, I was just an arbitrator," Farrell said.

The divorce plays no part in the possibility of a gubernatorial race by either parent, he said.

"It won't be any sort of vendetta by anybody," he said.

He discounted rumors that his mother might be thinking of running as a Republican.

"I'm sure it would be as a Democrat," he said.

"I might be surprised by how things turn out," he said. "Actually, I don't plan to talk to them any more about the speculation. I just figure it would be better to wait and see what happens."

"I supposed nobody in history has ever been in this position," said Farrell. "It's sort of a humorous feeling, a funny feeling."

Farrell, who has two daughters, said he has no plans to make any political race this year.

"Three Faubus candidacies would be just too much confusion," he said.

AFTER BREAK UP, WHO GETS THE GIFTS?

Dear Helen: I went with a boy for about a year, and he gave me a ring for Christmas, and a bracelet for my birthday. It wasn't "going steady" ring.

When we broke up, he said I had to give all his gifts back, too. I don't want a used boy's sweater and a zodiac ring that isn't my sign, and I see no reason why I should give his gifts back.

Is it necessary to return everything when you break up? — UNDECIDED

Dear Un: Normally, a girl returns only the engagement ring, and anything that belongs to the former boy friend, such as a class sweater or ring, Christmas and birthday gifts should have no strings attached. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm a high school senior who just about flunked out last year because I figured the whole system was wrong so why should I cave in to it?

I talked and goofed off in class because I didn't know how to fight in the right way. I thought I could prove how stupid schools were by ignoring the teachers, showing them I didn't agree with the system.

I didn't change a thing. I just have to take History and Geometry over again this year.

Then I met a certain English teacher and, because of her, I learned that it IS possible to change things but it takes a lot of time, patience and work.

I finally said to myself, "Look, either I've got to quit school because I'm not learning anything this way, or stay in school and LEARN, not just to get good grades, but to gain knowledge. If I'm going to stay, it will take a lot of effort, but then someday I'll get myself into a position where I can help make the needed changes."

More Data on Social Security

By KEN HARGIS

If you have any questions regarding social security, I invite your letters. Just send them to Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501.

QUESTION: Why do some social security payments to children stop at age 18, while full time students are paid until they reach age 22?

ANSWER: A student's benefits are designed to encourage a child to get an education. Frequently, these payments enable a child to remain in school until he receives his college degree. Social security payments partially replace earnings which are reduced or cut off when a worker becomes too disabled to work, or when he retires or dies. Every worker pays for this insurance and it is part of his family financial protection.

QUESTION: I understand that social security payments to a child will continue until he becomes age 18. Also, I know about continued payment until the age 22, if the child is a full time student. I want to know if there are any events which would cause the child's check to stop.

ANSWER: Yes. The death or marriage of the child will stop his check. If the child is receiving benefits on a living parent, adoption will terminate the child's social security payment. Also, if the parent's social security payments stop, the child's check is likewise no longer payable. If the parent is deceased, and the child is legally adopted by some other person, this will stop the child's check. For more information, please check with your local social security office.

QUESTION: Is there a fixed monthly allowance for all children under the social security program?

ANSWER: No. The amount of social security payments is determined by the parent's average earnings covered by the social security program. The amount of the child's payment is one-half of the amount of the living parent's full social security payment. If the parent is deceased, the amount of the child's payment is 75 per cent of his parent's payment. Also, there is a limit in the amount which can be paid to a family unit.

QUESTION: Is it true that a family of twelve surviving children would get no more than a family of four?

ANSWER: This is correct. The family unit limit (or family maximum) fixes the total dollar amount of social security payments which is paid monthly.

QUESTION: Is it true that the Medicare premium is being increased? If so, how much?

ANSWER: Yes. Effective July, 1970, the medical insurance premium will be increased from $4.00 monthly to $5.30.

Aaron Leads Braves to 9-3 Romp

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future and Dave Bristol probably has figured out a similar remedy for Reggie Jackson the next time around.

But the enlightened managers had nothing to show for their new found wisdom today.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

Jackson crossed up Bristol Milwaukee's new skipper, with a two-out, two-run single in the seventh inning that gave the Oakland A's a 2-1 American League victory over the Brewers.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, only other scheduled in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. But you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

"I didn't know how far it was going," said Aaron. "I just knew it was going out of the ball park."

Aaron knocked in another run with a single and Tony Gonzalez delivered three more for the Braves with a single and triple.

Milwaukee's Marty Eatin was clinging to a 1-0 lead at Oakland when Jackson came to the plate in the seventh with runners on second and third. Instead of giving Reggie the open base, Bristol called left-hander John O'Donoghue from the bullpen to pitch to the left-hand hitting slugger.

Jackson drilled O'Donoghue's first pitch to center, driving home the tying and winning runs.

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh.

Casper Wins Masters Going Away

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore shortsleeves.

"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He was never won the PGA championship or the British Open, but has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaire.

"A grand slam today is impossible—or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat—even though it was three sizes too big.

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinner, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offsprings back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklaus. But Casper picked up a new, light-steeled driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his teesots.

Despite his words about Littler's golfing prowess as a youth, Casper said, "Gene is a great player today, but as a teenager he was marvelous. If you think he strikes it solid now, you should have seen him then. He used to beat me good."

Littler smiled through his dejection at his closest brush with Masters glory. It was his 17th try and still no green jacket. "I never made a putt of more than four feet until the last hole," he said. "When you give four quick shots away to a player like Billy, you're usually dead. I was."

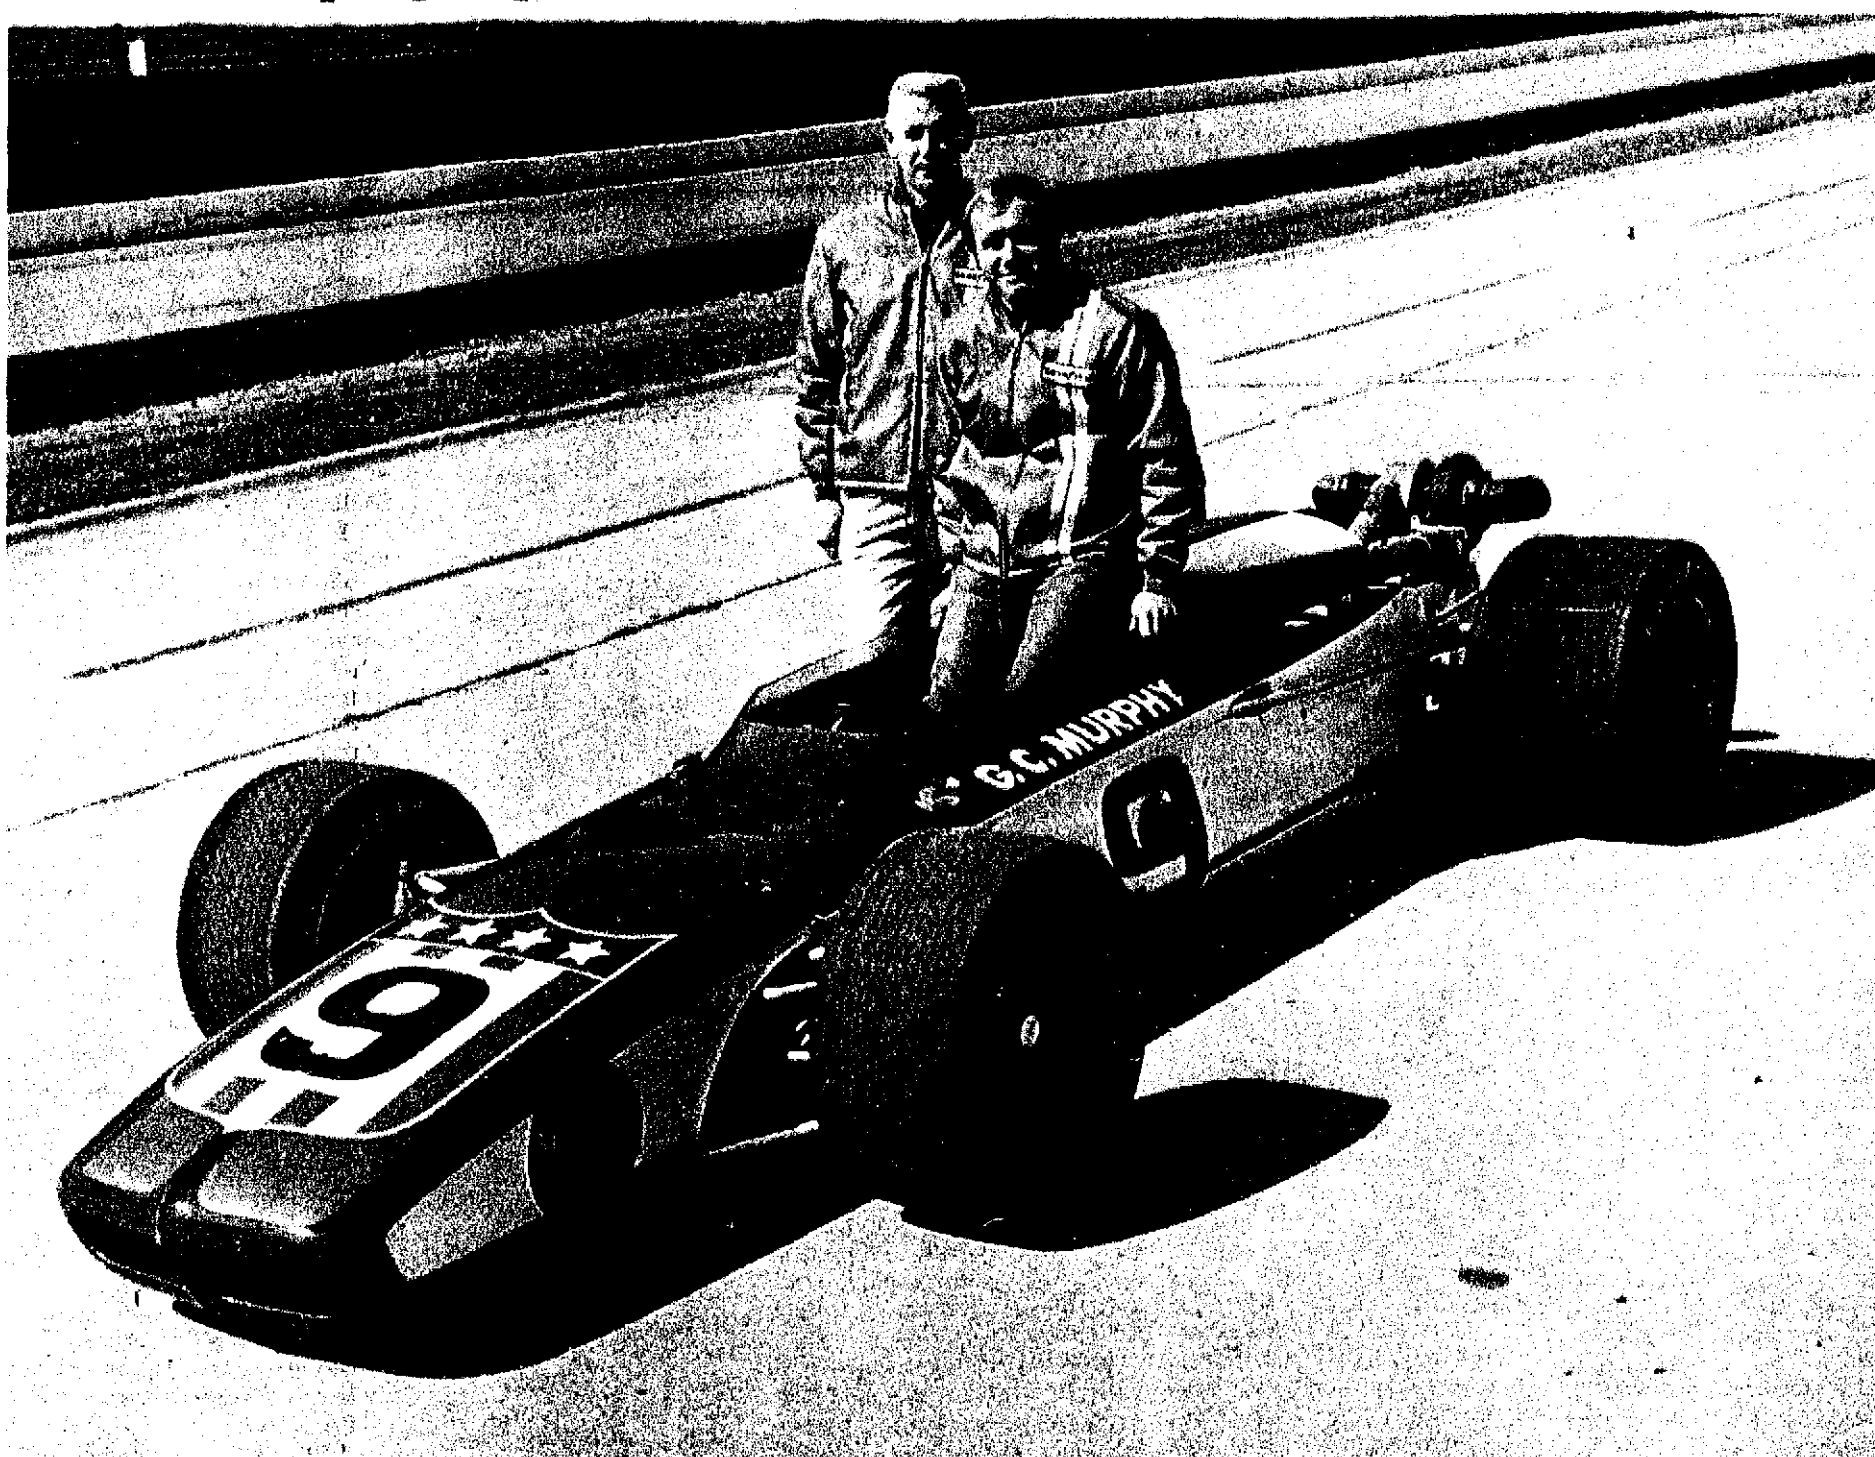

Littler said pressure was of little meaning in the showdown created when both shot nine-under par 279s in the tournament proper.

"I got so far behind so fast that I didn't have time to get nervous," Littler said. "I thought I might have a chance if I'd beaten Casper on the 16th, but he birdied and I was finished."

Foreman said Monday, "I understand his position of not wanting the fact made public that he might even be considering moving."

However, Shulman admitted there was a possibility a merger agreement might not include moving the Washington franchise. He indicated he felt the move was a necessity in reaching a merger agreement.

Reed Stars as New York Licks Bucks

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcindor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother. Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

Los Angeles, holding a 1-0 lead in the Western finals, plays at Atlanta tonight. After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Will) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's the No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcindor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

While the pair put on their eye-boggling show before 19,500 hysterical fans at Madison Square Garden, two reserves—Cazzie Russell and Mike Riordan—delivered the killing blow for New York.

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

Russell finished with 12 points, eight in the heart-thumping fourth quarter. Riordan, who played 12 minutes, had seven.

Coch Larry Costello of Milwaukee was understandably in a state of incredulity.

"We did everything but win the ballgame tonight," he said. "But we aren't finished—we're going back to Milwaukee Friday."

Guerin Raps Officials in Playoff

ATLANTA (AP) — "There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said. "It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night and that certain players may not be around when the game is over."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

British Colt Going for the Big One

LONDON (AP) — British wine expert David Sandeman said Monday his colt Double Splash will go for the May 2 Kentucky Derby and will be the first from outside North America to try for the classic prize.

Sandeman bought the horse as a 2-year-old gray last October for $98,400 last October. He immediately shipped it across the Atlantic for acclimatization.

Sandeman, one of Britain's main importers of port and sherry, said he was determined to win the race from the moment American friends had told him no non-American horse had a chance.

He added: "I'll have a go with Double Splash this year, and if we don't win there will be other years and other horses. I already have my spies on the lookout."

Car Does Well on Oval Track

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A square peg can't fit in a round hole, but a triangular car goes great on an oval track.

Mario Andretti and the new $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway combined to prove it Monday as the winner of the 1969 Indianapolis 500 sent his new Indy car on a test spin. He hit a top speed of about 190 miles an hour on the straightaway of the 2½-mile track even though he had no guide line to help him. Ontario's track had its final asphalt application only last Saturday and there wasn't enough time for the white line to be applied.

Andretti's new STP Special, owned by Andy Granatelli, carries the No. 1 signifying his United States Auto Club title from last year. It looks different from other racers.

From the front it looks triangular with the larger sections of the fuel tanks nearer the ground, lowering the center of gravity.

Andretti and No. 1 race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day and in the fall come to the inaugural of the California 500 at Ontario on Sept. 6.

Monday marked the first of official turns around the oval. The honor of the first one went to Rodger Ward, winner at Indy in 1959 and 1962 and now director of public relations for the new track.

years and other horses. I already have my spies on the lookout."

Double Splash's only worry in the states, he said, has been the dirt tracks. The colt was brought up on British turf tracks and at first shied off from the dirt and dust thrown up on American tracks. The Derby is on the dirt.

G.C. Murphy Company, a 520 store general merchandise chain, of which the two local Morgan & Lindsey stores are a part, is entering its sixth consecutive year as a sponsor of Indianapolis "500" race cars.

During the 1970 Championship Trail racing season, the "G.C. Murphy Special" banner will be carried on four cars owned and operated by Leader and driven by Mosley, Bob Wilke, president of Leader, is a veteran car owner and has had three Indy "500" winners, six National Championship Car Owner Awards and was the winning owner for the famed Monza, Italy 500 mile in 1958.

Get Coach But Lose Draft Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

Buccaneers Stay Alive With Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road. The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Art Becker led Indiana with 23 points, while teammate Fred Lewis got 21.

Indiana led in three-point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Jimmy Jones, the Bucs' all-star guard, sat out the game because of his ailing knee. He plans to undergo surgery on a torn cartilage Friday.

The field reached 65 cars, and only 33 can qualify for the start. Entries can be filed up to midnight Wednesday and up to 15 more are expected.

Starters will be determined in time trials May 16, 17, 23 and 24.

Foxboro Votes for Patriot Stadium

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Boston Patriots, who were driven from that city for lack of a large enough stadium, will have a home in Foxboro, about midway between Boston and Providence.

More than 3,000 residents of Foxboro packed a special town meeting Monday to vote overwhelmingly in favor of a plan to build a 57,000-seat stadium.

The vote was 1,933 in favor, 84 opposed, on a show of hands.

The privately financed stadium would go up on land near the Bay State Raceway track on Route 1.

Patriots President William Sullivan was at the meeting to argue in favor of the plan.

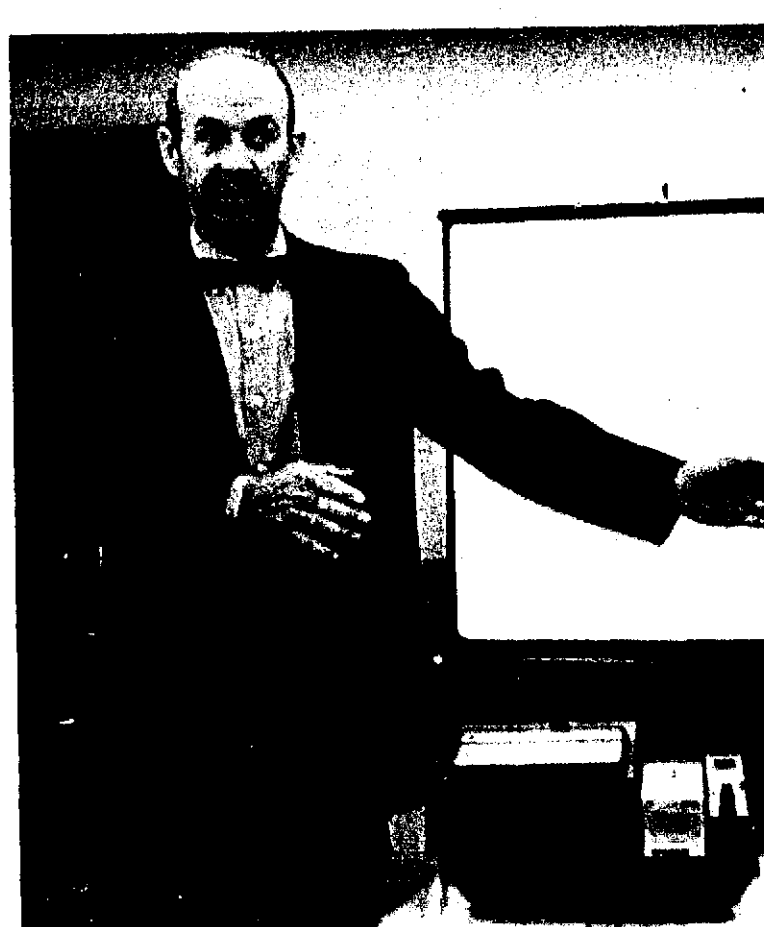

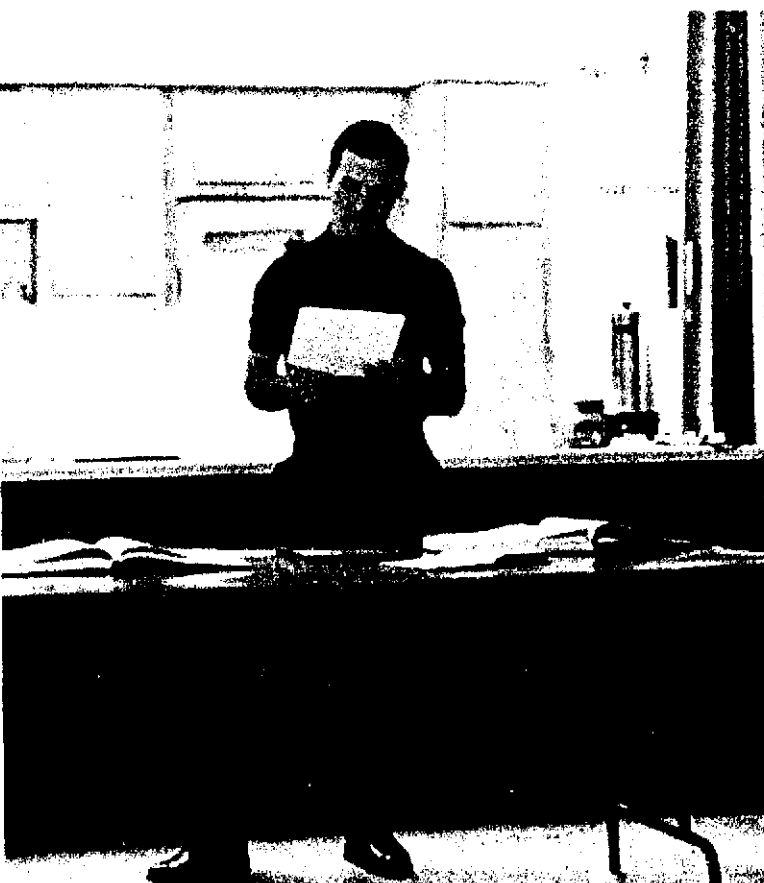

The stadium site belongs to E.M. Loew, who will transfer 15 acres of land to the stadium corporation. The stadium will have access to Loew's 10,000-car parking lot next to the race track.

Instead of taxes, the town will get 25 cents on each ticket sold, with a limit of $100,000 a year.

The agreement will be reviewed every five years.

After 50 years title to the land would pass to the town, and Oklahoma Baptist University banded out a total of 41 hits here Monday while splitting a baseball doubleheader.

Arkansas won the first game 9-6 and Oklahoma Baptist won the second 9-4.

Court Asked to Reverse Conviction

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — W. B. Howard of Jonesboro, attorney for Clyde Ray Glover, 36, of Paragould, asked the Arkansas Supreme Court Monday to reverse the first-degree murder conviction of his client.

Howard asked for the reversal on six points, including the contention that an improper search warrant was used to gather evidence against Glover, who has been sentenced to death in the slaying of Miss Judy Evans, 21, of near Paragould.

Miss Evans disappeared the night of Feb. 28, 1969, after leaving the Paragould firm where she worked. Glover was convicted last July 23.

James Allen Latham, 24, of Paragould, chief witness for the state, testified during the trial that he was with Glover when Miss Evans was beaten to death with a jack handle on a dirt road off Arkansas 139. Latham testified that Miss Evans' body was placed in her father's car, which was set afire at a gravel pit near Paragould.

Howard also told the Supreme Court Monday that Charles W. Light of Paragould, the trial judge, overruled Howard's challenges of four jurors and refused to allow cross-examination of a witness.

Other points cited for reversal were:

- That Light erred by commenting on evidence in presence of the jury that there was no testimony "justifying the inference" that witness Leorn Pitcher had assaulted Miss Evans with an attempt to kill her.
- That Light erred by allowing Latham to testify that after the crime he showed officers where Miss Evans' ring was buried.
- That the judge erred by allowing Deputy Prosecutor Howard Mayes to comment on the fact that Glover did not testify in his trial.
- That Light erred by not instructing the jury to consider the credibility of individual witnesses rather than the number of witnesses on each side.

Man Killed to Revenge Son's Death

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Police say Eugene Friedman shot and killed a truck driver he held responsible for the traffic accident death of his young son last September.

Lou T. Watts, 37, the driver, fell dead under a fusillade of pistol fire Monday outside the Municipal Court building.

Friedman, a 43-year-old employee of the Los Angeles County Real Estate Management Department, had been seeking for months to have Watts prosecuted for the death of the boy who was struck while bicycling. Ethan, 10, was Friedman's only child.

The district attorney said there was no evidence to justify a prosecution. Friedman hired a private investigator, whose report failed to alter the situation.

Watts told investigators the boy had swerved suddenly and he couldn't avoid him.

Later, police said, Watts was found to have four driving licenses obtained by giving false information.

On March 9 police arrested Watts for investigation of driving with a revoked license.

Police said Friedman was at Municipal Court when the case came up Monday, talked with Watts briefly outside the building, then began firing an automatic pistol at him.

Friedman was booked for investigation of murder.

Says Senate Out of Step With Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Monday that Senate rejection of two presidential nominees for the U.S. Supreme Court indicates that the Senate majority philosophy "is out of step and lagging far behind the times."

Hammerschmidt, who represents the home district of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., added that he doesn't question the motives or votes of individual senators.

Fulbright recently voted against confirming the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell but had voted earlier to confirm Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

"Each senator reaches his decision and casts his vote individually, as a result of many and varied considerations," Hammerschmidt said in a statement.

ABC Officers Convicted for Assault

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Alcoholic Beverage Control agents, Isaiah Jones and Joe Hill, were convicted Monday of assaulting a Little Rock man and fined $61 each.

The incident allegedly occurred Thursday at the Ebony Pal Club in Little Rock. Municipal Judge Quinn Glover said the two agents had no right to be at the club or to demand identification from Freddie Hendrix, 24, of Little Rock, who alleged that the agents beat him without provocation and then chased him inside the club with their pistols drawn.

ABC Director Joe Gaspard sat through the hearing and then charged that Jones and Hill were being "persecuted, prosecuted and harassed."

Glover ruled in a similar case resulting from an incident Dec. 22, 1969 that the police powers of ABC agents were limited to enforcing the state's liquor laws. The ruling, along with $61 fines against Hill and Jones, has been appealed in that case.

Gaspard said the ruling "has reduced the effectiveness of my department to a very small minimum, particularly in the black community."

"The black community seems to take Glover's decision and with it, decide that the ABC Department has no authority, no jurisdiction, cannot bother them, cannot arrest them, cannot enforce the liquor laws whatsoever," Gaspard said.

"And I say that this has seriously hampered our enforcement activity in Pulaski County, particularly here in the city of Little Rock and in the black community," he said.

Allan Dishongh, attorney for the agents, said he believed the jurisdiction of ABC agents extends to any place in the state which has a beer, wine, liquor or mixed-drink permit. He said he would appeal Glover's ruling.

We used to know a man who always carried his bass viol around with him just in case someone might ask him to play it. It was a lot of trouble but he was willing to take that trouble.

The grand-slam force is like that bass viol. You won't get many chances to use it but when you get an opportunity you are well paid for your trouble.

In its basic form the convention is simple enough so anyone can learn it. You may use it when your side has bid just one suit or when several suits have been bid but only one has been raised. In that case the grand-slam force is for that one agreed suit.

Furthermore, you may remember that the five no-trump grand slam force is not to be confused with the five no-trump follow-up to a Blackwood four no-trump.

This means you can't use the basic grand-slam force after Blackwood. There is a grand-slam force that you can use after Blackwood, but right now we are working with the simplest one.

South might well have jumped immediately to three hearts or next to four diamonds but he was one of those minimum bidders. That is, he was a minimum bidder until he was raised in diamonds. Then he used the grand-slam force.

The play required some care. He played out his queen of diamonds at trick two, ace of hearts at trick three, ruffed a low heart at trick four and continued to ruff back and forth until he had ruffed out two more hearts. After that he pulled trumps and collected the last two tricks with his king and jack of hearts.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Rheumatic Fever Attacks Heart Valves

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

white blood cells and bleeding.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Q—How does rheumatic fever affect the heart?
A—It attacks the heart valves and leaves the victim with a leaky heart which must become enlarged in its effort to compensate.

Q—Six years ago my daughter, 16, had rheumatic fever. She is still taking Penicillins daily. Will she have to take them for the rest of her life?
A—Some authorities recommend taking antibiotics indefinitely, especially if there has been any damage to the heart. A recent report indicates that a monthly injection of penicillin-G benzathine is preferable to daily treatment.

Q—What is Rendu-Osler-Weber disease? Is there any cure for it?
A—This disease is properly called hereditary hemorrhagic telangiectasia. The latter term means the presence of dilated small blood vessels in the skin and mucous membranes. The disease may start in childhood and slowly progress with age. When bleeding occurs, it is more likely to come from the mucous membranes than the skin.

The only treatment is to control the bleeding when it occurs. Electrocoagulation of the lesions has been tried but it is always followed by fresh lesions nearby.

Q—Can an animal that eats and drinks normally still have or carry rabies? What are the symptoms of rabies in a human being? After the symptoms appear, is there still a chance for a cure?
A—Rabies is transmitted to man only by the bite of an infected animal. Since the animal always dies, there are no normal carriers. The virus does not appear in the animal's saliva until after the onset of symptoms.

In man, the disease starts with fever, headache, nausea and a sore throat. These symptoms are followed by periods of extreme restlessness alternating with periods of profound depression, drooling and pain on attempts to swallow. After symptoms appear, cure is virtually impossible.

Q—What is Purinethol given for? What are its side effects?
A—This drug is given for leukemia and Hodgkin's disease. Excessive doses may cause a destruction of the

Unsure About Reinstatement of Professor

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Ronald Hayworth said Monday he was unsure whether he would accept reinstatement as assistant professor of history at Arkansas State University.

Dr. Carl Reng, ASU president, said Monday he would ask ASU's Board of Trustees to reconsider their recent refusal to renew the contract of Hayworth. The board also refused to renew the contract of Dr. William Stroud, associate professor of philosophy, but Reng did not mention Stroud in his statement.

"I have asked, and the administration has agreed, for time to try to absorb all this," Hayworth said. "My family and I have only recently acclimated ourselves to the prospect of having to leave Jonesboro so we will need time to determine whether we can stay at all."

"One could hope that more light on the reasons for my mistaken nonreappointment will be forthcoming soon," Hayworth said. "Particularly since there has been so much publicity which inevitably raised doubts about my professional ability and performance."

Hayworth said his reaction to Reng's statement was one of "perplexity."

"I was told that a press release would be issued stating look, study, experiment, and analyze their potentials.

Practical illustrations presented by the specialist introduced the decorating "power" homemakers have at little expense.

Homemakers were given decorating references for future planning. Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, encouraged the homemakers to develop a home decorating file and offered assistance of the Hempstead County Extension Office in supplying current literature for various housing improvement projects.

that a mistake had been made," Hayworth said. "I am somewhat disappointed in the brevity of the statement although I recognize that a full statement with particulars could not be expected."

The trustees' action in regard to Hayworth and Stroud has prompted criticism from several student and faculty groups.

Stroud, when asked Monday about Reng's decision, said, "this retreat raises more questions than it answers."

"Won't this be self-incrimination?" Stroud said. "And, doesn't this indicate that public opinion dictates the policy of this university. Admission of error now implies either irresponsibility or breach of administrative ethics."

Dr. O. Phillip James, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, said he made the initial recommendation to the higher administration officials not to issue new contracts for the two

The eyes of 161 Hempstead County homemakers were recently trained at the Coliseum by the Cooperative Extension Service to look for and apply good design in decorating their homes. The interest and enthusiastic attitudes of the homemakers about this educational opportunity was quite obvious throughout the training, according to the positive comments made by those homemakers attending. Soon after training began homemakers started applying the guidelines to their homes, expressing more self-confidence in their ability. All had praise for the manner of presentation by Patsy Keller, Extension Home Furnishing Specialist.

The Cooperative Extension Service expresses appreciation for the local involvement of Hempstead County people in the planning and promoting of this educational endeavor. Special noted assistance was made by the County Family Living Committee, Extension Homemakers Council, Hope Council of Garden Clubs, DeAnn Garden Club, Jaycettes, P.T.A.'s, Hope High School Homemaking and Family Living classes, and local businesses. The Hope Star and KXAR continue to make invaluable contributions in keeping the Hempstead County families aware of such educational opportunities.

Mrs. Arch Wylie serves as chairman of the Hempstead County Family Living Committee that serves to analyze situations and needs of families and recommend suggested actions for improvement. The Extension Service works with this committee in looking at needs.

According to Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, the Extension Service will continue to offer educational opportunities to help homemakers in carrying out their most important role, the home, the base for developing a strong community and county.

Apparently Russian Sub Is Lost

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of trailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday and Saturday, then vanished Sunday with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P-3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cap Finisterre, Spain — roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

Actually, it was the tragic experience of Nashville when it tried and failed to get water from the Narrows during a drought emergency more than 20 years ago which caused me to go to Washington and make sure the same law-making mistake wasn't repeated in the case of Millwood Dam and Reservoir, then merely a project. The Narrows was built as a three-purpose reservoir: flood control, recreation, and electric power generation. All the Narrows' water having been spoken for there was none available to Nashville in a drought emergency. Congress will have to rewrite the Narrows contract, and I will go along with this, presuming, of course, that there is no adverse effect upon the Narrows' recreation benefits—that is, if any present benefits have to be cut the curtailment should be on flood control or power generation.

I make this qualification because The Star has an employee cottage, and many other southwest Arkansas citizens also have equities in recreation sites around the Narrows whose usefulness we wouldn't want to see impaired.

Getting back to the Millwood pipeline Hope never has built—Other cities are on the march seeking surface water resources—but Hope is still drilling wells, wells that have to be renewed or supplemented every few years as the water demand increases and the supply of underground water diminishes.

The record shows that in a dry cycle the local water table drops and 200-foot farm wells fail. Right now we are in a wet cycle. It may end during the 1970s—and a financially solvent city like Hope has no business drill-

Believes an Article by Douglas Leaves No Doubt on Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggoner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggoner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

"This is judicial misbehavior," Wyman said. Pointing to the article, he said, "this is conduct which establishes a sitting justice as a partisan."

Ford displayed a copy of the magazine containing photos of nudes, including a naked couple. He called it shocking.

The resolution calls for the special panel to submit its report in 90 days.

If created as proposed, the committee would conduct hearings and be armed with subpoena power. The resolution, itself, would be referred to the House Rules Committee and, if cleared by that unit, would be subject to

96 Enemy Troops Are Killed

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven of the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down.

One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

One source said North Vietnamese positions in Cambodia bombarded the complex of yellow one-story buildings with mortar shells and 240mm rockets weighing about 200 pounds each. Then sappers broke through the perimeter firing rocket grenades.

"The damage was extensive," the source said. "It was pretty bad."

The North Vietnamese left 35 rifles and seven heavy weapons on the battlefield, said the spokesman.

South Vietnamese ground troops and bombers have been making regular forays across the border in collaboration with Cambodian forces in efforts to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have their base camps in the area that juts into South Vietnam. It is known to the military as the Parrot's Beak.

Farther south, AP Correspondent John Vinocur reported from Takeo, Cambodia, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the Seven Mountains region of the western Mekong Delta attacked two Cambodian posts about six miles from the border and captured about 50 soldiers and policemen.

Takeo Province's assistant military chief said the Viet Cong were looking for rice. He estimated that there are 20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in his province.

There was no word of fresh fighting 25 miles farther west along Highway One, where more than 3,000 Viet Cong troops advancing into Cambodia are reported on three sides of Svay Rieng, a provincial capital with a population of nearly 20,000.

Cambodian officers in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, said they had killed 96 enemy troops.

Mission Control Works Calmly

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Glynn Lunney ran fingers through close-cropped hair, adjusted the headset clamped to his head and flashed a smile down the console.

"All right, everybody," he said. "We've got a number of things to do."

His voice was smooth, calm. No bark. No steely edge. He could have been on an outing with a Cub Scout pack.

But the lives of three American astronauts 202,000 miles from home and nearing the moon hung in the balance. Apollo 13 was in trouble, moon landing aborted, and the astronauts' lives threatened.

And it was up to Lunney and his Black team of flight controllers at Mission Control to make order of the chaos.

Behind Lunney, in executive row, sat some of the top brass of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, drawn there in the wee hours of the night by word that the Apollo flight was in trouble.

The problems, crowding in, demanded attention. But they had to be taken one at a time, the most pressing first.

"We'll set up the roll and let them watch it like they did on Apollo 8," he said about a procedure to keep the sun from overheating the spacecraft.

A controller disagreed. "I don't see the point in the new procedure." Voice calm, he might have been discussing buying groceries with his wife.

"We keep stalling around. I don't see the point. Somebody tell me what the point is and I'll buy it."

The astronauts, James Lovell, Fred Haise, and John Swigert, began going through a checklist on activating the lunar module electrical system.

"OK, everybody, quiet in the room while we go through this activation."

A controller suggested telling the astronauts to skip part of the list to save time.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Several astronauts milled about, discussing problems with Lunney, making suggestions.

The viewing room, isolated by a glass wall behind the consoles, was packed, the plush, red theater chairs filled with tense, worried spectators.

Apollo 13 Astronauts Battling to Bring the Crippled Craft Home

Never Did Crew Lose Its 'Cool'

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!" Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts are battling to return their crippled craft to earth from a quarter million miles away. The ship was to swing around the moon and back toward earth tonight, with course adjustments made using the systems of the lunar landing module.

The crisis, called the most serious ever in the manned space flight program, began late Monday when an as yet undefined accident in the Apollo 13 command module drained it of electrical power and oxygen. The astronauts were reportedly in no immediate danger and, if all goes well, will land in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

The attack brought retaliatory air and artillery strikes inside Cambodia. Ninety North Vietnamese were reported killed, along with six South Vietnamese troops.

Lives Depend on Experts on Ground

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts battled today to bring their crippled craft back to earth from a quarter million miles away as Mission Control decided they would aim for a Friday splash down in the Pacific.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. took shortcuts to conserve their precious consumables of water, oxygen and power as they raced father from earth toward a moon which had been their landing target until a violent eruption of a pressurized fuel tank Monday night.

They were to loop around the moon tonight and two hours later, at 9:40 p.m. EST, were to fire their lunar lander engine to speed them back toward earth and a dawn splashdown in the Pacific north of New Zealand at 12:13 p.m. EST Friday.

Asked whether the three spacemen, principles in the most dangerous drama in American space history, would make it home safely, flight controller Glynn Lunney, answered, "Yes, barely."

"We've got the situation stabilized," he said. "The most critical thing now is to keep it stabilized the rest of the flight."

As Lovell, Haise and Swigert flew away from home, here was the picture aboard their spacecraft.

The command ship, disabled by the still mysterious rupture, was completely shut down electrically. Emergency batteries and oxygen supplies were available to take the ship, the only vehicle that can carry the men home, through the atmosphere.

The lunar module which became the astronauts' lifeboat, was providing critical power, oxygen, water and other life support. But its supplies were dropping and the astronauts were operating on minimum requirements.

Officials were concerned mainly with the water supply. With 72 hours to go, based on a Friday landing, they had enough water for 84 hours, a margin of 12 hours. To keep this margin, the astronauts must power down to minimum electrical power of 17 amperes per hour for most of the journey, reducing the average hourly water consumption from five to 2.68 pounds. The water is used for cooling the electronics and cabin oxygen as well as for drinking.

The oxygen supply was more substantial. They had enough for 122 a margin of 50 hours, barring unforeseen events. The astronauts moved around as little as possible to reduce their consumption. Oxygen was fed through an open connecting tunnel into the command cabin so the pilots could operate there.

With power reduced well below 17 amps per hour whenever possible Mission Control officials said the ship's supply of 500 amp hour of power should be sufficient but they admitted it would leave little margin. Only essential instruments were being operated. The only panel lights on were in the LM. Otherwise were flicked on as needed.

To keep the spacecraft from overheating, the astronauts' ship was occasionally rotated 90 degrees so the 247 degree heat of the sun would not take on one side for too long.

There will be a meeting of all interested persons in Hempstead who would like to re-organize the County Wildlife Association. The meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the little courtroom at Hempstead Courthouse.

The Yerger Junior High and Hope High School choirs will present concerts Tuesday night at 7:30 in the High School auditorium. The choirs, directed by Juanita Nicholson, will sing various types of music that will be enjoyed by everyone. There is no admission charge.

For those who haven't filed a federal income tax return Wednesday, April 15 is the deadline. The state deadline is May 15.

There will be nominations and election of officers at the VFW meeting Thursday night, April 16, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Another burglary was reported by Hope City Police last night. Officers discovered the door to Bill Ellis' insurance office broken at 12:30 a.m. Following a check Mr. Ellis told officers that $140 in bills and $10 in dimes were missing. The investigation continues.
